THE INTERNAL SUPPORT AWARDS

Winner// KAMWELL

This award recognises a supplier or service provider that demonstrates outstanding products and client services for employee mental wellbeing.

Kamwell is transforming workplace wellbeing from fragmented initiatives into preventative, data-led action – helping organisations understand the conditions affecting their people and turn insight into meaningful, measurable change.

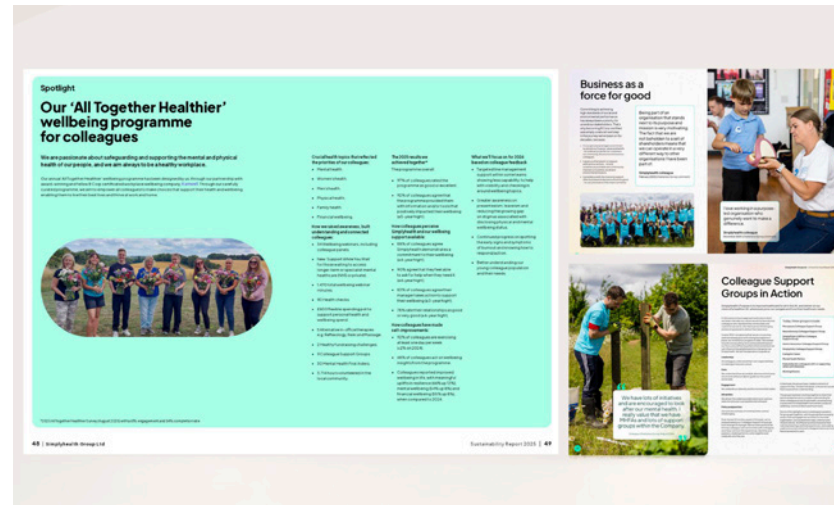

From Wellbeing Support to Systems Change

A B Corp-certified workplace wellbeing and analytics company, Kamwell has supported organisations across 40+ countries for more than a decade. Its approach combines strategy, diagnostics, behavioural insight, leadership development and data analytics to identify where pressure is building, understand the causes and target action where it matters most.

Kamwell's impact is demonstrated through long-term partnerships.

Rather than generic programmes, Kamwell works across the whole system: supporting leaders to role-model healthy cultures, equipping managers for difficult conversations, and building employee capability around psychological safety, mental health literacy, psychosocial risk and stigma. Its developing Kamwell Analytics platform is extending this approach by giving leaders clearer visibility of workforce pressure and where to act first.

Proven Impact at Scale

Kamwell's impact is demonstrated through long-term partnerships. At Elsevier, MindLife has helped increase engagement from 47% to 69% and eNPS from -1 to 40, reaching 5,000+ colleagues in 2025, with 97% finding sessions useful. Data-led regional adaptation increased APAC attendance from 8.3% to 23.8%.

At Simplyhealth, 91% of colleagues say their manager cares about their mental wellbeing, while 97% rate support good or excellent. For CGIAR, training achieved an NPS of 83, with 100% of participants more confident signposting colleagues.

At LexisNexis Risk Solutions, a partnership spanning more than 10 years now supports 11,800 colleagues across 24 countries, including mental health training for thousands of employees and managers.

Kamwell combines data, expertise and human insight to move organisations from understanding wellbeing challenges to changing the systems that shape them. ■
